U.A. — A.L.
café

Rick Blaine, (Humphrey Bogart), in the movie classic "Casablanca", took great pride to provide many services for his patrons. He created a casual, yet classy atmosphere allowing his patrons to feel comfortable during a period of turmoil in the world.

We at Rick's Café Américain would also like to extend that personal service to create an atmosphere of warm hospitality. Our recipe for success is to provide food and drink in a plentiful, consistent, and fair manner with an International Flavor. The wide variety of selections on our menu is intended for you to enjoy, with special consideration given to the health conscious nature of the 90's. You leave knowing that Rick's is a casual and fun place to eat and drink.

And remember, as Sargeant Louis Renault said during the movie classic, "Everybody comes to Rick's."

*Bon Appetit,
Rick*
